Table of Contents has been updated to reflect new revision dates for Chapters 4 and 21.

The rewrite of Chapter 4 implements current federal and consensus standards and requirements. The major changes are as follows:

1. Allows the commercial drivers license physical to be used to meet crane operator physical requirements
2. Requires training programs to have measurable objectives
3. Requires standards for performance and written tests to be established
4. Requires on-the job training (OJT), when provided, to include use and installation of approved attachments
5. Allows management to approve previously qualified or experienced personnel to bypass the OJT training and undergo performance evaluation.
6. Adds training requirements for personnel who prepare or approve lift procedures, provide safety oversight of hoisting and rigging operations, instructors, evaluators, and equipment custodians.
7. Provides for requalification through both performance and written evaluation and testing.
8. Explains the situations that require retraining.
9. Lists types and class of equipment on which personnel must be evaluated to meet new OSHA and consensus standards.
10. Adds evaluators' and student's name and signature requirements to qualification cards for equipment operators
11. Provides a sample list of course subjects for designing activities and testing and evaluation criteria to be included
